My name is Atissa Banuazizi, and I work in WRAP, Writing, Rhetoric, and Professional

BANUAZIZI:

Communication, at MIT. And I work with classes across the Institute helping students learn to write and speak professionally. The goal is to get students to learn to communicate like professional practitioners of their own disciplines. And that is really what 8.13, I think, excels at, getting students to work, and think, and talk, and write like physicists.
